

This is the layout of Fairgrounds for the October 23rd and 24th, 2010 Event only

Showing where the buildings are located for the Expo and the Judging Bird Shows. If you want to go to the Expo, Seminars, Trick Bird Shows and the Judging Bird Show then you will need to go to the ticket booth and pay your admission fee ($5 for non-members $4 for members of EBSOA or any other Exotic Bird Club that has a membership card you can show at the gate). The fee paid here will cover everything for the week end.

You will get a wristband put on your arm when you pay at the ticket booth and you must keep this band on overnight if you are planning on coming back Sunday. Any band that has been cut off and then put back on will not be accepted and you will have to pay again.

There are restrooms in the Expo Building as well as the ones shown on the layout below. When you go into either Building you must show your wrist band to the guard at each door. Without a wristband you will not be let into the Expo building.

If you just want to go to the Judging Bird Shows then you need to go to the "Bird Show Building" and pay your admission fee of $3, but that will only let you into the Bird Show Building not the Expo Building nor does it cover the Seminars or the Trick Bird Shows which are in the main Expo building.
